Dress Like A Leprechaun Contest

According to Irish folklore, leprechauns are fairies – magical creatures. The creatures, typically small in size and prone to mischief, lived in Ireland long before the first human stepped foot on the Emerald Isle. Leprechauns can't be trapped, but they can be attracted by a kind heart, good character, and a few shiny objects. Leprechauns will look out for you, even when you can't see them.

We in the Cape Fear area do not often see leprechauns, but the best-dressed leprechauns are invited to appear at the Hooley on February 12.

Prizes will be awarded for different categories, including the most convincing leprechaun, the most Irish leprechaun and the most creative leprechaun costume. The judges will also award prizes for other categories (use your imagination), and, with some Irish luck and good fortune, some or all of the Irish leprechauns can lead the 2022 Wilmington St. Patrick's Day Parade on March 12!
